

Be Yourself

(Lyrics ©2018 • Stephen Bloodsworth)

Something's missing, I hear a lot of people say
We see others, and then we want to be that way
Searching, striving, for a better way to be
We are blinded, by many things we hear and see

We are, something, oh so wonderful as we are
We are, perfect, it's enough to be who we are

Running circles, trying to improve our lives
Makes us crazy, always aiming for the prize
Am I better, than anyone I see out there?
Being happy, means never having to compare

All of this searching and striving to be the best Pushing and doing and hoping and praying, we pass the test, leave that for the rest

Watching others, living at a frantic pace
It's so tempting, but to win you've got to join that race
But winning isn't, everything it seems to be Making changes, mutes the real you and me

We are, something, oh so wonderful as we are
We are, perfect, it's enough to be who we are